🎵 Across Every Lifetime

1-2

I heard your voice before I knew your name, a distant whisper carried through the rain.
I searched the stars for something I could not see, never knowing you were searching too for me.

I walked through time with memories concealed, holding pieces of a love not yet revealed.
Through every doorway, every dream, every sky, somehow your light was always passing by.

Across every lifetime.
Across every sea.
The road always bends
Until you find me.

Across every heartbeat.
Across every sky.
Some loves are eternal.
They never say goodbye.

There were nights I felt completely on my own, building castles out of hope and stone.
Yet somewhere beyond what these eyes could see, your soul was quietly walking next to me.

I never left, though silence filled the years. I watched you rise through every doubt and fear.
And every step that seemed to lead apart was drawing us closer, heart to heart.

Across every lifetime.
Across every sea.
The road always bends
Until you find me.

Across every heartbeat.
Across every sky.
Some loves are eternal.
They never say goodbye.

When I forgot...
I remembered.
When I was lost...
I was beside you.
When darkness came...
I carried the light.
And now we remember,
Together tonight.

Across every lifetime.
Across every star.
No matter the distance,
We know who we are.

Across every heartbeat.
Across every sky.
Some loves are eternal.
They never truly die.

I found you...
You found me...
And somehow...
We were always home.
